

Hobbies for a Healthy Mind

The brain, similar to any other muscle, can wither if not used. It is believed that people with strong minds typically live more fulfilling lives. Below are some suggestions to stimulate your mind. Choose a few that interest you and work to incorporate them each day.

Try brain games, such as crossword puzzles, Sudoku or scrabble

Stay up-to-date on current events

Read a book or join a book club

Complete a jigsaw puzzle

Watch a thought-provoking movie

Play video games

Attend an adult education class at your local community center

Take up photography

Learn to play an instrument

Start a hobby; browse your local craft store for ideas

Study a foreign language

Volunteer

Take cooking lessons

Travel

Plant a garden

Learn how to use the computer or a new computer program

Play cards

Exercise by walking, swimming, golf, yoga, tai chi, dance, golf or bowling

MeridianComplete is a health plan that contracts with both Medicare and Michigan Medicaid to provide benefits of both programs to enrollees.